

Can you add in the missing punctuation to these sentences?
Use the Direct Speech Help Sheet if you need to.

“Hello, my name is Om!” exclaimed the girl.

“Nice to meet you, Om,” replied the boy nervously.

“Where have you come from?” the girl asked.

“I was in the woods,” the boy said, “when I tripped and fell.”

“What are those funny things on your face?” Om asked.

“They are glasses. They help me to see better,” he replied.

“I will take you to meet my family,” Om decided.

“Where exactly am I?” wondered the boy.

CHALLENGE! Write two sentences using direct speech - one said by Om, the other said by the boy.

