

Science at Stanford

Science at Stanford is a school science competition. All you need to do is do something scientific at home and provide some evidence of this and you could be in with a chance to win one of three prizes. You could...

- Do an experiment or science demonstration.
- Research a scientist you are interested in. This could even be a family member or someone you know.
- Research a recent scientific breakthrough.
- Research an area of science you are interested in. This could be absolutely anything - space, animals, plants, rocks, fossils, electricity, sound, chemistry, forces, magnets etc.

You will need to provide some evidence of what you have done. This could be photographs, diagrams, a diary, a poster, a fact sheet or profile, a story, a cartoon strip anything. All you need to do is prove you have done something scientific at home.

Entries need to be given to Miss Bowden by Friday 8th June at the latest. If you have any questions, please feel free to come and see me.

Best of luck and have fun!
